

James Ehlich Jr., MD
2014 Walk to Cure Arthritis
Medical Honoree
Fort Wayne, IN

James Ehlich Jr., MD, joined Lutheran Medical Group in January 2008 after practicing and serving as vice president and co-director of research at East Side Rheumatology, where he worked since 1988. He was also an investigator for Physician Research Group in Indianapolis.

Dr. Ehlich received a bachelor's degree in microbiology from Michigan State University in East Lansing, Michigan, and a medical degree from the St. Louis University School of Medicine. He completed an internship and residency in internal medicine at The Jewish Hospital of St. Louis, Washington University Medical Center, and a rheumatology fellowship at Indiana University Medical Center in Indianapolis.

Dr. Ehlich, who is board certified in rheumatology and internal medicine, has authored numerous papers on osteoarthritis and has received research grants to study the effects of painkillers on rheumatoid and osteoarthritis.

The Arthritis Foundation is proud to recognize Dr. Ehlich as our 2014 Walk to Cure Arthritis medical honoree for Fort Wayne, Indiana.

About the Arthritis Foundation

The Arthritis Foundation (www.arthritis.org) is committed to raising awareness and reducing the unacceptable impact of arthritis, which strikes one in every five adults and 300,000 children, and is the nation's leading cause of disability. To conquer this painful, debilitating disease, we support education, research, advocacy and other vital programs and services.
