

Lynn Miller
Arthritis Walk Honoree
Manhattan, KS

Lynn is a military wife, and busy stay-at-home mom. A former business professional, Lynn spends her days fully supporting her brave husband, while caring for their precious 9 year old. Her hobbies of knitting and beading help to pass the time.

After a routine surgery last year Lynn developed Rheumatoid Arthritis (RA). “My entire life changed immediately,” according to Lynn and the simplest tasks became monumental events. She experienced difficulty taking care of herself, and her family. She feared not being able to drive her daughter to school, and the intense pain left her feeling that arthritis had taken control of her life.

Today, Lynn has found relief for her pain, and while not in total remission, day-to-day activities have become easier. She now feels a sense of duty to let others know about the seriousness of arthritis, and how the pain can be debilitating.

Lynn’s strength and courage is so inspiring, and we are proud to have her as the 2012 Arthritis Walk Honoree.
